Campaign Wins New 10-Year Lease For Shopping Center Citgo Station

"It was the people in this town—they were wonderful," said Linwood Symons, of the Citgo service station in the Princeton Shopping Center. "They wrote letters to the Shopping Center—people I didn't even know!—and said how important it is for the Center and this area to have a service station here."

So Mr. Symons now has a ten-year lease with the Princeton Shopping Center management. He also has a lease with Citgo.

Borough Meter Thief Strikes Again; Key Is Used to Obtain $625 in Coins

The Borough's meter thief has struck again.

More than 200 meters were opened last week with a key and about $625 in coins taken, according to Borough meter man Jack O'Neill. Sixty-two meters were opened in the Tulane West yard, 47 in the Witherspoon yard, 71 in the Park Place yard behind Davidson's Market and 16 of 18 meters in the Park Place East lot behind the 194 Nassau Street Building. Also opened were a few meters on Spring Street, North Tulane and Park Place.

In addition, four locks were stolen from two meters in the Park Place East lot—"an almost certain indication," observed Chief Michael Carnevale, "that the thief will try to fashion a key or keys."

"I have no doubt the guy will be back," predicted O'Neill, who believes it is the same thief who has fashioned keys and emptied Borough meters periodically in previous years. "He's very good." He discovered the most recent looting last Wednesday when he found the doors to several meters ajar.

Lack of Inspection Sticker on Car Leads to Four, More Serious, Charges

For want of an inspection sticker, James Watson could have avoided a lot of trouble.

Monday afternoon Ptl. Randy Sutton noticed at the intersection of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets that Watson's car did not have an inspection sticker and stopped it on Washington Road. His subsequent investigation revealed that the 32-year old Watson, who has no known address, was driving while on a revoked list and that his car was unregistered, uninsured and bore fictitious license plates. A further investigation revealed that Watson had shoplifted $31.65 worth of meat from Acme and A&P stores in Lawrence Township.

Watson was charged with all the above offenses and is scheduled to appear in court here September 16.

Major Revisions Made in Plans for Palmer Square First Meeting with Planning Board Set for Monday

The office building has been moved and made smaller, the proposed post office site has been shifted, a kiosk for the sale of newspapers replaces the One Palmer Square fountain, and the number of parking spaces has been reduced, along with the estimated number of peak-hour cars.

These are the chief changes in the Collins Development plans for an expanded Palmer Square, due to be spread out in their entirety before public and Planning Board in a formal presentation this Monday. The hearing, first of a possible three, will begin at 7:30. It will be held in the Valley Road building. A second hearing has been scheduled for next Thursday, July 16, and a possible third for Monday, July 20.

"These revisions have been made in response to comments we've heard," Collins vice-president James Harvie III said this week, "and we believe we now have a totally excellent plan."

Mr. Harvie said that he, Collins architect Do Chung and Princeton architect Alan Chimacoff had met frequently "to solve some concerns." Mr. Chimacoff had directed strong and detailed criticism at the original plans when Collins presented them to the Environmental Design Review Committee in May.

On the Collins team, Mr. Harvie added, "the hotel, retail, general and landscape architects now all agree, and that is tremendous."

Meanwhile, Borough Engineer George Olexa is reviewing the plans to make sure they conform to the Borough's new Planned Commercial Development ordinance. (The ordinance was passed, 4-0, last Wednesday.) Mr. Olexa will examine the plans to see whether they conform to floor-area ratios, coverage, side yards, open space, distance between buildings and so on.

The overall effect of Collins' changes is to reduce the number of square feet of new construction. In a domino effect, this reduces the number of required parking spaces, and the number of cars during peak hours.

For example, Borough regulations required 1,047 for the previous plan and 992 spaces for this revision. The peak-period number of cars had been 852 and is now 806.

The new plan will add an estimated 528 cars with 405 "new" cars at peak hours. With the earlier plan, there were 581 new cars overall, and 450 at peak periods.

At first, Collins had an office building parallel to Witherspoon next to Griggs Amoco Station. The building has now been moved all the way across the Square to the corner of Hulfish and Chambers, its 90,000 square feet reduced to 70,000.

It will be four stories high instead of five and will start at street level—which the earlier design did not—and extend four stories above the deck.

The next post office, Collins hopes, will be located in the building at street level. This building is the only structure in which Collins plans new offices.

On the east side of the Square, where the office building used to be, Collins now has condominiums, increasing the number from 125 in the early plan, to 140. Residences now rim the Square on all sides.

It was the deck, covering all the parking lots now between Witherspoon and Chambers north of Hulfish, and roofing the parking garage, that drew Mr. Chimacoff's severest criticism. He likened it to a wall. In the new plans, Mr. Harvie believes, there is no sense of "garage" or "wall" when you look end-wise at the deck. The office building goes all the way to the ground, like a conventional building. Steps lead people who live in the condominiums, into their front or rear doors.

"At every place on the deck," Mr. Harvie says, "there are either shops or condos."

The architects have proposed a 700-square-foot kiosk, where the One Palmer Square fountain now is. They see it as a way to draw people into the Square and to provide a service for passengers waiting for the bus.

"We want to break up that One Palmer Square facade," Mr. Harvie explains. "We plan Tiger Park as a little garden, an ornament to look at. But in front of the Nassau Inn, we plan a big, open lawn with a real concentration of benches."

Garbage Collection to Resume In Borough After 7-Day Strike

Borough and some Township residents can put their garbage curbside again. Striking members of Teamsters Local 495 voted to accept a second offer Tuesday evening after earlier rejecting another one by a 2-1 margin. The first offer contained no sick days. The strike left Borough householders without a pick-up for a week.

In the event no settlement had been reached, Princeton health officer Patrick Hanson had issued instructions to residents concerning garbage disposal. These should be followed if another strike ever occurs.

Mr. Hanson introduced a new word into the Princeton vocabulary by instructing householders to separate "putrescible" waste from other trash, like cardboard or paper. "Putrescible" trash, as you have probably guessed, is food garbage. It also includes disposable diapers and other kinds of wet waste.

Mr. Hanson says to put this material into plastic sacks, double-bag it and tie it tight. Take it to the landfill, or store it outside in a cool area. If it smells, use one or two ounces of household ammonia. If you have a compost pile, put the food garbage there.

Rinse bottles and cans, and take them to the recycling shed in the Princeton Shopping Center. Watch the storage of dry things like paper, because of fire hazards.

The strike hasn't affected the Township, except for a few property-owners who contract for their own collection. Browning Ferris Industries is the Borough's contractor, and it is the big companies like BFI who were the chief targets.

A TOWN TOPICS EDITORIAL

As hearings begin on Collins Development's plans to build on the rest of Palmer Square, there are a few things for Princeton residents and Planning Board members to think about.

We hope very much that the Planning Board will examine Collins' proposals in a receptive frame of mind. After concept review in April, board president Margen Penick called the plans "exciting" and that is an excellent beginning.

But it will be easy for board members and citizens to fall on these plans and pick them to pieces: this is too big and that is too dense; this isn't "Princeton" and that is too commercial and this is too close to my house, and so on.

The Collins plan is a bold plan. Princeton is not a bold community. On the contrary, our elected and appointed officials take pride in caution.

Yet Collins proposes less office and commercial space than the citizens Steering Committee of 1979-80, as set forth in the Venturi, Rauch and Scott Brown study. Collins has more residential and hotel space than suggested by the Steering Committee and the study.

Collins architects and officials have already talked at length with one of the plan's severest critics and have made significant changes in response to criticism. (See page 1.)

It might be a good idea to remember that we're talking about Princeton's CBD—its Central BUSINESS District, not a bosky dell. You need density and bulk in a business district just as you need wide, open spaces to grow wheat. Because of density, you can close a business deal in your lawyer's office, take an elevator downstairs to the bank and borrow the money. Because of density, you can park just once, and do all your shopping.

Architecture critic Paul Goldberger, writing in Monday's New York Times, said of a St. Louis project that it gives the city "a sense of density that it so desperately needs." Princeton, like St. Louis, needs that sense of density in its downtown.

We all like to think of Princeton as a lovely town, but often we close our eyes. Behind Nassau Street's facade, Princeton's CBD is ugly. Except for the library and a short row of Witherspoon buildings, there is fender-to-fender parking, 8.16 acres of it, according to Borough engineer George Olexa, with charming vistas of the backs of stores.

Isn't a well-designed office building of several stories preferable?

Yes, there will be more cars. No matter what form the new construction takes, there will be more cars. That, it can be argued, is the whole point. If you want to "revitalize" the Square and the CBD, you need more people. And people do use cars.

The Environmental Design Review Committee wondered whether Collins' plan doesn't have too much "massive commercial development" and not enough "village square." Well, even village squares attract people in cars—to attend bluegrass concerts, art festivals or just to sit on a bench.

Much of this seems like "deja vu." After the Planning Board wiped out the 1978 parking garage, a Steering Committee of Borough citizens was formed. Its 26 members represented all the neighborhoods next to Palmer Square, merchants, elected officials, the Chamber of Commerce, the community at large.

In many long, serious, hard-working sessions, this group hammered together the criteria reflected in the Venturi, Rauch and Scott Brown study. Even the EDRC, despite its six-page critique, concedes that Collins has followed the general concept of that study.

Will it really be necessary for the Planning Board and Princeton residents to go through that whole process all over again?

The board, quite rightly, is very conscious of its responsibility to the Princeton community. A large part of that responsibility, surely, is to insure the community's life and vitality.

Collins' purchase of the Square is an accomplished fact. We hope very much that the Planning Board and the community will support Collins and help the corporation get the job done. Think about it...

Palmer Square

"That present walk won't go straight to the Inn door. Instead, it will be a walkway around the perimeter of the big, square lawn. At the rise, where the Nass' door is, we plan a cocktail terrace."

In another accommodation, Collins has reduced the bridge over Hulfish to a 120-foot width. Its western edge is, in a sense, a continuation of Palmer Square West. The bridge itself would be across Hulfish approximately where the Terrace Cafe of the Nassau Inn is now located.

The plans now show 53,500 square feet of retail space, plus another 5,000 for a restaurant. There will be 137 new hotel rooms in the expanded Nassau Inn, instead of the earlier 125.

On Palmer Square East, where the expanded Nass is shown there will be a single level of shops under the deck. Stores, under the expanded hotel, Mr. Harvie suggests, will make Palmer Square East look the way Palmer Square West does today.

Garbage Strike

The Township's contractor, Hinson Disposal, is a small, family enterprise, not involved in the strike. The Township has five garbage "districts" where homeowners have municipal collection by Hinson Disposal. In other areas of the municipality, householders use whatever private collectors they wish. Families who chose the smaller firms were in luck, but those with the big ones like BFI, have been in the same predicament as Borough families.

Martin G. Miller, assistant Borough engineer, points out that Princeton is lucky to have its own landfill. The Borough can haul garbage to the big landfill it uses in Bordentown, which the strike did not touch. Other landfills, within the strike area, have been picketed.

The Borough's contract with Browning Ferris Industries has a penalty clause. If garbage isn't collected, the penalty is $200 a day. It is possible that the strike might be regarded as an extenuating circumstance, and Borough Council might not try to hold the company to the clause, but it is too early to tell.

Reportedly the garbage workers have agreed to a 50 percent wage increase spread over three years. They had asked for 81 percent, and the owners had offered nine, six and seven percent raises over a three-year period.

CLUSTER ADOPTED

By Township Committee. There was no fanfare last Wednesday as Township Committee unanimously adopted the new cluster ordinance a few minutes before midnight.

Rather, there was a feeling of weariness and a sense that although some of its complicated provisions may not produce the desired results, it was better to pass the ordinance as it stood and amend it later. As Committeeman George Adriance commented before casting his vote, "I'm not sure we have all things right, and I hope we will be receptive to problems as they arise."

The passage of the ordinance, a key element of the Master Plan adopted in May, 1980, does not mean that cluster developments will spring up all over the township overnight. The ordinance allows residential cluster in a more comprehensive way than the previous cluster option, and encourages it as an alternative to conventional development, particularly in environmentally sensitive areas. Whether or not developers will make use of its provisions remains to be seen.

The ordinance is applicable to seven residential zoning districts in the township and in the OR-1 and OR-2 zones which have a residential option. As part of its stated purpose to allow residential development to be designed and constructed at a lower cost, it permits a mix of two-family and multi-family structures and townhouses along with the single-family house that is generally built in Princeton.

Tied to Zoning. The number of units permitted is the same as would be allowed in a conventional development in a particular zone. As an incentive to the developer, and to protect environmentally sensitive land and provide open space, additional units are permitted if the developer limits the construction of dwelling units to only a small portion of the tract and if more space than the minimum is left open as usable and preserved land in the large-lot R-A and R-B zones in the northwest Township.

DID YOU TAKE OUT THE GARBAGE, DEAR? The classic question took on a new meaning this week as Borough families found themselves caught in a garbage-workers strike. Household holders have been urged by Borough officials to take their garbage to the "sanitary landfill" on River Road where it will be compacted and taken to Bordenlown. W.B. Mather, a Linden Lane resident, accepts his role with resignation.

Committee went through the motions last Wednesday of considering alterations to sections of the ordinance suggested by Princeton University, representatives of the deMenil tract and Committeeman William Cherry. However, except for a few minor changes in language suggested by Planning Board attorney Allen Porter, the ordinance was adopted essentially as it had been proposed in final draft form.

A section which would have given broad discretion to the Planning Board to reject a conventional development and require a residential cluster was modified to eliminate some of the subjective criteria that were objected to by the University and deMenil representatives.

John Chamberlin of Fairway Drive and Robert Sullivan of Independence Drive said that the 40-foot rear setback was "inadequate" and that placing a cluster development too close to an existing neighborhood might be disruptive to the character of the neighborhood. Mayor Josie Hall and Planning Board Chairman Margen Penick, who was in the audience, agreed, and said the matter would be studied further.

IMPASSE REACHED

In Township Police Talks. Ptl. William Potts, chairman of the Township PBA bargaining unit, reported this week that police have reached an impasse with the Township on a new contract for 1981.

"The only difference holding us from an agreement is one-half of one percent in a salary hike," said Ptl. Potts. He said that police have scaled down their original request for a 15 percent wage increase to 9½ percent; the Township has raised its original offer of a 7½ percent raise to 9 percent. The ½-percent difference for the entire Township force amounts to only $2900, Ptl. Potts explained. That is the only issue, he added.

"We are considering filing with the Public Employees Relations Commission and contemplating some form of demonstration in the near future," Ptl. Potts continued. In fact, very near. He said that police would probably demonstrate at this Wednesday's meeting of Committee in Township Hall.

Negotiations with Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, Mayor Josie Hall and Police Commissioner Win Pike began in October, he said. The police contract runs from January through December 31.

Final Offer. "We've made our final offer — the 9 percent," said Mr. Nini, "and told them that's as high as we're going to go. And they said they were firm on the 9½ percent."

"I assume they'll go to binding arbitration, which means an arbitrator will be chosen by both sides, and his decision is ordinarily binding. He chooses between the two final offers — he can't pick a middle ground between them, for example. We could, of course, continue to negotiate while arbitration is going on."

It has never happened before, in the Township, that the police have gone to PERC, Mr. Nini said.

TOWNSHIP SIGNS ORDER

To Modify Sewer Ban. "Eureka!" said Mayor Josie Hall as she signed the Administrative Consent Order, an agreement with the state DEP which will permit the gradual lifting of the sewer ban as repairs are made to Princeton's sewer system.

The order had already been signed by the Borough and must also be signed by the Sewer Operating Committee and the Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority.

The Consent Order is thought to be a "first of its kind" program in the state in which developers will pay for repairs to the aged sewer lines in return for permission to hook up to the sewer system.

Under the program a developer will be assessed $8 for each gallon of sewage the house is expected to add to the system per day. Assuming a discharge rate of 100 gallons per day per bedroom, it will cost a developer $2,400 to provide hook-up for a three-bedroom home, for instance.

The DEP has agreed to allocate additional sewerage capacity on a four-to-one ratio, which means that for every gallon of infiltration and inflow removed from the system by the repairs, one gallon of additional sewerage capacity will be allocated. To start things off, the Borough and Township will make $100,000 held in a trust fund available to the Sewer Operating Committee to correct problems in the sewer lines that are most severe and that can be repaired in the shortest time.

The DEP for its part will allocate 10,000 gallons per day of sewage for immediate use by the SOC. The 1976 Brokaw Report will be the basis for identifying the areas of the system in need of repair.

Water Getting Into System. Extra water has been leaking into the system through the cracked and broken sewer lines — hence the term infiltration and inflow — putting a strain on the sewage treatment facilities. The sewer rehabilitation was estimated to cost $1.7 million in 1976. A federal grant was received for the preliminary engineering study, but Township and Borough officials have all but given up hope of federal funding for the actual repairs.

But it has also been clear to officials that something had to be done. The sewer ban, imposed in 1973 by the state because of the infiltration and inflow problems, have slowed growth in both the Township and Borough and kept new rates at a minimum during a time of inflation and the imposition of "caps" on municipal operating budgets.

Under the plan worked out over the past year with DEP officials, the Borough, Township and SOC agree that sewer rehabilitation work is to be completed by December 31, 1985, "with or without federal funding," providing that the cost of the work does not exceed $5 million. The DEP agrees that once the work is completed, the sewer ban will be lifted completely.

A sticking point in the negotiations, the elimination of raw sewage by-passing at the River Road pumping station, has been covered in a separate letter, Mayor Hall announced.

SEWERS ARE PROBLEM
In West Windsor. Slipshod installation of sewer pipes, inspectors who didn't check the work adequately and a municipal staff without the expertise to supervise, cost West Windsor hundreds of thousands of dollars in the construction of its sewer system, according to a report by Federal Environmental Protection Agency officials.

West Windsor began construction of its sewer system in 1977. It was finished two years ago and is tied into the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority system, of which Princeton is a part.

Four parties have filed suits in Superior Court over the sewer tangle. They are the two chief contractors, Longo Construction Co. and V.A. Spatz Excavating and Paving Co., the engineering firm Ditmars and Carmichael, retained by the township to do the inspecting, and the township itself.

The firms claim that West Windsor owes them a total of $2.25 million for work they did and were never paid for. The township says the firms did not fulfill their contracts, and over-charged for the work they did.

Auditors from the EPA are still reviewing the books, so it is not yet known exactly how much West Windsor believes it

MSM Study Council Warns I-95 Not Dead Yet; Seeks to Have Funds Diverted to Other Projects

Don't build I-95. That's the message — once again — this week from the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council, alarmed by what it sees as an increasingly strong showing of support for construction of I-95, particularly the formation of an "I-95 Action Committee," under the chairmanship of the director of the Somerset County office of economic development. Somerset is the county immediately north of Princeton. The State Department of Transportation has been meeting with local and county governments, civic groups and professionals to talk about things that might be done with the money now reserved for I-95.

If Governor Brendan Byrne and local governments affected by I-95 make a joint request to the U.S. Secretary of Transportation to "de-designate" a highway project, the Federal official has the power to do that, if he thinks the highway in question isn't essential to the completion of a unified interstate system. When that approval of de-designation occurs, a state can use the money for other highway or public transportation projects, at a ratio of 85 percent Federal funding, 15 percent state-local.

MSM thinks New Jersey should use what little money it has to reconstruct and maintain existing highways and transit systems. Also, MSM doesn't like the idea of spreading suburban growth farther out into the countryside, which the organization believes would add to the future costs of public service. "Maintenance and reconstruction of our existing transportation system is the highest priority," MSM says in a statement. The organization lists these needs:

- Reconstruct the Somerville Circle.
- Build all or part of the proposed Route 92 by-pass around Princeton.
- Reconstruct the bottleneck intersections of Route One.
- Make major improvements to Route 206 in the Hillsborough area.
- Make major improvements to Route 571 between Hightstown and Princeton.
- Build up ride-sharing and public transit systems.

N.J. Spending Low. The fact is, says MSM, that compared to other states, New Jersey spends "an unusually low amount" on highway maintenance. Also, the Federal Highway Administration says that at least one out of every ten miles needs replacing, and the number is growing each year. "These are the realities," declares MSM, "against which we must evaluate a proposal to extend the interstate highway system into the predominantly open countryside of central New Jersey, as I-95 would do."

The Door Center

Rt. 206 • Village Shopper
Rocky Hill, 924-3884

MSM advocates concentrated development, rather than urban and suburban sprawl, and it points to a study by the Urban Land Institute which says the same thing. "A policy of concentrated development makes plain sense in an era of scarce funds, scarce energy and public dissatisfaction with the cost and inconvenience of urban sprawl. There are numerous well-located sites for new development throughout our region and the state. To be against I-95 is hardly to be against the economic prosperity of our region and the state."

People who want I-95 say it would reduce traffic congestion, but MSM says that on the contrary, it will increase traffic because it would induce suburban growth. MSM also says that not building I-95 would not mean a gap in the Federal interstate system because I-95 will be rerouted across the Pennsylvania Turnpike bridge in Burlington County, and up the New Jersey Turnpike. To those who say I-95 is critical to national defense, MSM says that most of the Interstate system doesn't meet Department of Defense standards, and will have to be rebuilt, if it is to meet them.

was over-charged. Officials suggest that it may be at least the $2.25 million figure named by the two contractors and the engineer.

The inspector general's office of the EPA discovered in May, in an interim audit, that the sewer construction project had many problems. That report levelled its criticism across the board, charging that the two contractors, the engineer and the township itself kept incomplete records.

In the EPA report, officials say the township, New Jersey and Federal governments shouldn't have to pay the full price of work that was done improperly the first time and improperly when it was supposed to have been corrected.

The report makes its case with many examples. Some breaks in the sewer line were found by the state to have been repaired with a substance called gel, which is in violation of state regulations. Also inspectors found no stone bedding, to keep pipes from settling and cracking, in 17 of 43 places where records show the township had paid for foundation material.

The EPA routinely audits sewer grants to small communities, and EPA officials said West Windsor's problems were typical. The township has acknowledged that its staff does not have enough

Bike Auction Set

Township police will hold a bicycle auction this Saturday in the parking lot next to Township police headquarters.

Forty-five girls and boys bicycles and three mopeds will be sold "as is," according to Chief Frederick Porter, who will serve as auctioneer. They may be viewed from 9 to 10 in the morning, an hour before the start of the auction.

experience to supervise the work of anything as complicated as a new sewer system. West Windsor officials also pointed out that the Ditmars and Carmichael firm was fired in March of last year after construction problems came to light.

$865 IS STOLEN

From WCC Mail Room. Someone entered the mail room in the student center at Westminster Choir College between 10 Friday night and 8 the next morning and removed $865 from a cash drawer. There was no forced entry.

There were two victims after an intruder pried open a door Sunday to enter a student's room in Foulke Hall on the university campus. One occupant lost two silver necklaces, two silver chains, two gold watches, a 35mm camera and $23, with a combined loss of $451. The second victim lost a $50 gold watch.

Two rooms in the Third World Center, located in the old university Field House on the corner of Prospect and Olden Street, were burglarized last week. A $10 silver ring and $5 were taken from one room; the second was ransacked but nothing taken. Both rooms were unlocked, police said.

In the Township, a bathroom window was pried open to enter a house on Pretty Brook Road. Stolen from a ransacked bedroom was a turquoise ring valued at $20. Nothing else was taken in the theft, which was reported at 12:01 Friday morning.

When a Mercer Road resident returned home at 6 p.m. last week, after being absent for five hours, he noticed that his home had been entered.

Jewelry boxes were removed and jewelry taken, including a gold pen set. Police are waiting for a list of missing items. The home was entered by either a garage or porch entrance.

A 12 by 24-inch pane of glass in a rear patio door was broken to enter an Edgerstoune Road home last week. Once inside, the intruder entered all rooms, police said, but apparently did not take anything. Sgt. Michael Kopliner investigated.

Sgt. Kopliner also investigated an attempted break-in less than an hour earlier on Stockton Street. Strong door locks prevented any access, police said.

The victim had left at noon and upon returning at 4:30 discovered a broken pane of plexiglas in a rear door.

THEFT REPORT

Oriental Rug, Potted Plants. "We can't have a summer go by without the theft of a potted plant," quipped Chief Michael Carnevale, who then went on to report the theft last week of six.

A palm plant was stolen from one porch and three potted plants from another — both on Moore Street — and

Mayor, Zoning Board Honor Hinds

Albert Hinds, 227 John Street, was guest of honor at a recent dinner given by Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and the Borough Zoning Board at the Nassau Inn.

Mr. Hinds, who retired from the board last year, had served longer than any other member. A Republican, he was appointed to the Zoning Board more than 20 years ago by Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male, a Democrat. Subsequent Republican mayors re-appointed him.

At the dinner, described by guests as genial and informal, Mr. Hinds was presented with a photographic collage made by his Zoning Board colleague, architect Alan Chimacoff. It showed the great architectural masterpieces of the world — describing the result as Princeton, after Al Hinds' years on the Zoning Board.

Speakers described Mr. Hinds as "a wise and steady influence" on the board, and noted his encyclopedic knowledge of the community. Mr. Hinds was born in Princeton (1902) and except for college years and a brief time thereafter in New Orleans, has lived here all his life.

He was involved in the first paving of Nassau Street, has personal recollections of the construction of Palmer Square, and participated in most of the Borough's important zoning decisions. Toward the end of his tenure on the Zoning Board he had been an alternate member because he divides his time between Princeton and Talladega, Alabama, where his wife, Inez, teaches at Talladega College.

It is not known how the intruder entered the building.

Four knapsacks worth $45 each were stolen last week from The Nickel on Route 206. Recovered on the ground in the aftermath of a theft were nine running suits worth $33 each, a $45 duffel bag, and 13 pairs of shorts with a combined value of $328.

According to police, two men and a woman entered the store Monday evening and walked toward the rear. When the clerk heard a noise, he ran toward the rear of the store. As he did, the woman ran out and one of the suspects tried to block his path. He saw the other suspect leaving the rear of the store with a large amount of clothing in his arms.

The suspect then dropped the clothing and ran to a car parked in front and the three drove off. Ptl. Robert Buchanan investigated.

JULY 4TH 1981

Damp but Loud. The day-long rain on July 4th didn't dampen the spirit of those with firecrackers. "We were run wild by firecrackers," said Chief Frederick Porter in the Township.

Throughout the day police responded to reports of excessive fireworks on Red Oak Row, Crestview Drive, the Boathouse area off Princeton-Kingston Road, Hemlock Circle, the Princeton Shopping Center. It spilled over into Sunday morning with additional reports of fireworks on Leabrook Lane, Holly House, Ridgeview Road Circle, Prospect Avenue Extension, the Boat House area again and the Grover-Dorann-Franklin Road area.

In each instance, the area became quiet when police arrived. They began the Fourth checking on a report that occupants in a blue Mustang were throwing firecrackers from the window on Route 27 near Dodds Lane.

The rain brought a wire down on Battle Road shortly before 1 p.m. and a tree limb fell on Valley Road near Harrison a short time later. A power line began to arc at 7:12 at the intersection of Cherry Valley and Cherry Hill Roads.

In the Borough, police

two potted plants were taken from a Spruce Street porch — all on Friday.

The 9 by 12-foot Oriental rug was taken from the Colonial Club, 40 Prospect Avenue. Police did not receive a value.

A $69 dress was shoplifted

Friday from the Ladybug on Nassau Street. The suspect was described by police as a black female, about 23, 5-6, heavy set, wearing a pink print dress.

A radar detector worth $250 and a wallet valued at $20 were stolen Monday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. from a car parked in a rear lot off Nassau Street. The wallet, which contained credit cards, was later found intact on Nassau Street and returned to its owner.

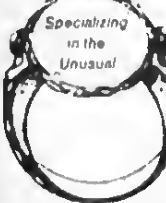

Two bicycles were stolen, one Monday evening from a Dickinson Street front porch. The owner of the $150 10-speed model pursued the thief but lost him as he fled toward Alexander Street.

A boy's red bike was stolen early in the week from the front porch of a Jefferson Road home. Police said the $100 bike was unlocked.

A steel office desk valued at $80 was stolen Saturday from the University League Furniture Exchange building on Broadmead in the Township.

reported a loud explosion on Western Way and another on Linden Lane at 3:32 in the morning. At 2:10 Sunday morning there was a loud explosion in front of police headquarters. A car was seen exiting on Monmouth Drive but managed to elude Det. Timothy Huizing and Ptl. Glen Stanton.

Thursday afternoon, two days before the fourth, police investigated a report of excessive fireworks on University Place. After locating two spent rockets in the University Store parking lot, Det. Thomas Michaud and Det. William Fitch were able to identify the car from which the fireworks allegedly came. Charges are pending, Chief Michael Carnevale said.

ARRESTED AGAIN

For Inhaling Fumes. Twenty-four year old Geoffrey Houston of Walnut Lane has been arrested for the fourth time in recent weeks for inhaling toxic fumes.

Houston was arrested after being observed by Sgt. Thomas Procaccino inhaling spray paint fumes which contained, police said, a substance called Tuluol. He had responded after police received a call that someone was sitting on the west side of the Methodist Church inhaling fumes.

Taken to headquarters and processed, Houston was charged under a state law which says it is a violation to smell or inhale fumes for the purpose of causing intoxication, inebriation, excitement or dulling of the brain or nervous system. He was released after being issued a summons calling for his appearance in court on Wednesday.

Also scheduled to appear in Borough court Wednesday is John Sweeney, 24, of Bronxville, N.Y.

Charged with criminal trespass, Sweeney was apprehended Saturday evening by Sgt. Procaccino and Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli at the rear porch of the Cap and Gown Club on Prospect Avenue.

They had responded to a call from the Cottage Club next door that someone had tried to enter the club through a rear door. When he was observed, he left.

STUDENT IS VICTIM

Of Flasher. Borough police are looking for a man who exposed himself to a Princeton University student while she was walking early Friday morning on lower University Place.

According to police, the student was lured to a parked car when the driver asked for directions. As she approached, the person inside exposed himself. Det. Thomas Michaud is continuing the investigation.

NO SUMMONSES ISSUED

After Car, Moped Collide. There were no summonses issued, after a car and a moped collided Sunday morning on the Great Road.

Police report that Nancy C. Schaefer was exiting from her driveway at 549 Great Road and as her car entered the bicycle path which runs parallel to the roadway, she was struck by a moped operated by Elisabeth P. Heins, 16, 108 Hun Road.

Miss Heins sustained abrasions to her left arm and right knee. Ptl. Mark Emann, who investigated, noted in his report that there was no faulty driving by Miss Heins. The incident occurred at 10:30.

CONTRACT FOR HOUSTON

Unanimous Approval. A nine and one-half percent raise for Superintendent Paul Houston, bringing his salary from $46,500 to $50,900, was unanimously approved by the school board last Tuesday.

In addition, the board will pay Dr. Houston's $400 annual dues to Rotary International and his $150 a year dues to the YMCA. The board will also pay $220 a year disability insurance premium. This assures the superintendent that he will not lose his pay if an extended illness keeps him away from work beyond his allotted sick days.

TWO CARS OVERTURNED

In Borough. Two cars were overturned in the Borough during the weekend.

A 1979 Toyota was found turned on its side at 2:05 Sunday morning in a lot in the corner of William and Olden Streets. The owner, a Pemberton resident, told police that he had parked his car at midnight.

Less than an hour later, police were investigating a similar incident. A 1978 Honda had been pushed from the Broadmead driveway of its owner into the roadway and overturned. Both cars sustained paint damage and the passenger side of each was dented.

The same morning at 8:03, a Princeton resident called police to report that his car had been vandalized while it was parked during the evening in the Tulane West lot. Both wiper blades and the radio antenna were bent, two rear view mirrors broken off and a windshield and side window scratched.

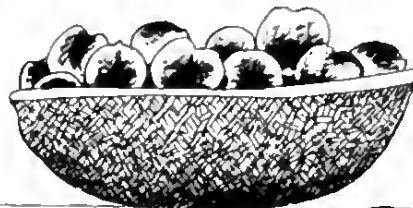

The rear quarter panel and trunk of a car of a Westcott Road resident were damaged — apparently by a rock, police said — while it was parked in

CAR SLIGHTLY DAMAGED
By Leaf Fire. A parked car owned by John Johnson, 292 Witherspoon Street, was slightly damaged last week when leaves around it caught fire.
In checking a 12:55 call Friday reporting smoke coming from 266 Witherspoon, Sgt. John Hammond discovered leaves burning in a front parking area, in front of Mr. Johnson's car. Eleven firemen of the pumper unit from the firehouse on Chestnut Street extinguished the fire and wet down the area.

Early Saturday afternoon police also investigated a report of smoke in the basement at 364 Franklin avenue.
It was the result, police said, of a burned out water sump pump motor. There was no other damage.

ATTEMPT FAILS
To Enter Monterey Site. An attempt to enter building number three at the Monterey construction site on Route 206 failed.
Police said that an attempt to enter the building was made last month after it was discovered that a side door and two rear door metal frames had been bent by prying. There was no entry, according to the investigating officer, Ptl. John Clausen.

The LANDAU Philosophy

The Problem: Preparing for a Clearance Sale.

Many stores get ready for a sale very casually. Since their sales do not create any unusual activity there is no reason to do any unusual preparation.

A Landau's sale (Part I - 1/2 price sale on women's sportswear begins Thursday July 9th) is a good old fashioned "clearance sale." The number of customers attracted to our values on traditional quality sportswear is unbelievable. So we must be prepared.

The Landau Solution: We do our best to make your sale visit as enjoyable as possible.

Great values and quality merchandise are just part of a successful Landau Sale. Sale preparation is another part.

- 1) Every garment has the 1/2 price sale marked on the tag so you don't have to wonder if it is reduced or how much
- 2) Additional dressing room space is added
- 3) Additional cashier stations are set up
- 4) Additional air-conditioning has been added to accommodate peak loads of sale traffic (just installed!)
- 5) Additional reserve merchandise is prepared so that when room is available on the sales floor, this merchandise is filled in promptly. (If you don't get here at 8 a.m. we still want to offer you a good selection.)
- 6) For the first time Cafe Au Lait will provide light nourishment (blueberry bread and brownies) to the weary and hungry shoppers
- 7) The sale has been scheduled a little later than usual: Part I to begin on July 9th, Part II on July 23rd. Hopefully this will allow the town to quiet down for the summer and parking should be a bit easier than usual.

The way we look at it you go out of your way to come to a Landau sale so we have to go out of our way to try and make your visit pleasant. It's that simple.

SIDEWALK SALE SET

At Shopping Center. The Princeton Shopping Center will hold its annual Sidewalk Sale Friday and Saturday on the mall. As an added attraction, the 15th New Jersey Volunteer Infantry Regiment will display its large collection of Civil War items on Saturday.

This regiment was recruited at the fairgrounds near Flemington in the summer of 1862, with 925 men from five rural districts. The "reactivated" 15th was formed in the same manner in 1959, in the same county as its predecessor. Its aim is the commemoration of its Civil War counterpart, and the promotion and study of Civil War arms, equipment, and memorabilia.

From what is believed to be one of the largest collections of Civil War items in the state, the 15th will display small arms of the Civil War, drums, cartridge boxes, historical documents, flags, tents, and a cannon on the mall at the Princeton Shopping Center Saturday from 11 till 4.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED

For Park Commission. William H. Cane of Titusville has been elected president of the Mercer County Park Commission at the group's reorganization meeting. Mark A. Ellsworth of Princeton Junction was chosen as vice president, and Stella Jascott of Hamilton Township was re-elected secretary.

Mr. Cane is the regional sales manager for Crest Ultrasonics; president of the Hopewell Valley YMCA Soccer Board; past president and current vice president of the Union Fire Company and Rescue Squad in Titusville; vice president of the Titusville 4th of July Parade; a Hopewell Valley Little League soccer and baseball coach and a Republican County Committee member.

"The Mercer County Park Commission and Mercer County is indebted to Richard J. Coffee for his years of service," said Mr. Cane, referring to his successor. "This is the beginning of a new era, but we will continue the programs established during these past years, and we hope to have an open exchange between the commissioners."

Mr. Ellsworth, who is employed at his family-owned Ellsworth's Wines and Liquors store in West Windsor Township, was appointed to the commission last year, and has been active in fund-raising efforts on behalf of the Princeton YMCA and Health Club.

SIX ATTEND CONVENTION Of AAUW. Six members of the Princeton Branch of the American Association of University Women recently returned from Boston, where they attended the AAUW

Centennial Convention, highlight of the Association's year-long 100th birthday celebration. Those attending were Martha Karraker, Jean Simmons, Rose Fishkin, Shirley Knight, Winnifred Lydon and Robin Treadwell.

In passing a series of resolutions relevant to AAUW aims and interests, delegates reaffirmed that ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment continues as the Association's highest priority.

Martha Karraker of Princeton was among those honored at the convention during Educational Foundation night. A Martha Karraker Endowment for Research and Projects has been established by the New Jersey Division. A former president of the Princeton Branch and of the New Jersey Division, Mrs. Karraker is retiring as a regional vice president of AAUW after two terms.

TRIP FOR SENIORS SET

To Garden State Center. The Recreation Department will sponsor a free trip for residents 60 years of age and older on Thursday, July 23, to the Garden State Arts Center to see "The Treniers" sing and dance in their traditional style.

The bus will leave Community Park Pool at 10:30 and return by 5. Interested persons may call the Recreation Office at 921-9480 to register. Participants may bring a lunch or buy it at the Park concession.

RECIPIENTS LISTED

For Book Awards. The Princeton Area Smith College Club has announced the names of the recipients of their annual book awards. The awards are given to juniors in several area high schools in recognition of their outstanding work in the field of literature.

This year's award winners include Madeleine Watson, Princeton High School; Susan Rayl, Lawrence High School; and Susan Ryan, Montgomery High School. The book, "A Gift From the Sea," by Smith alumna Anne Marrow Lindbergh, is autographed by Smith College president Jill Ker Conway.

INFORMATION AVAILABLE

From New Transit Center. N.J. Transit has started operation of its new consolidated transit information center.

The new center combines formerly separate bus and rail telephone hot lines into one operation located in Maplewood, the site of the former bus-only information center. By consolidating the two hot lines, N.J. Transit expects to save more than $700,000 a year in operating costs by reducing duplicate overhead while at the same time providing a more convenient single-number service for both bus and rail customers.

The new toll-free number for all New Jersey callers is 800-772-2222.

The number of phone answering desks at the Maplewood center has been increased from 20 to 30 in order to handle added calls from train customers. In addition, the new center will operate daily from 6 to midnight, two hours later each night than before.

Timetables and schedules can be obtained free by writing to NJ TRANSIT Information Center, 180 Boyden Avenue, Maplewood, N.J. 07040.

THROUGH THE LENS

Photography Exhibit. Six photographers have been given Purchase Awards by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission, and their works, with pictures by other photographers, are now on view at Washington Crossing State Park in the Visitors Center. The exhibit will remain through July.

Award photographers featured in the show are Robert Sussna for "2," Virginia Beahan for "Dried Flowers," Gary Saretzky for "New York Deli," Cynthia Tyler for "Japanese Maple, Marquand Park," Louis DiMattia for an untitled work and Peter Taub for "Bridges."

All these photographers are either residents of Mercer County or attend school in the county. Mercer is the only county in the state with a private collection of purchased works from Cultural and Heritage sponsored photography shows.

Warren P. Elmer III

COORDINATOR NAMED
For Blairstown Programs. Warren P. Elmer III has joined the Princeton Education Center at Blairstown as resident program coordinator.

Mr. Elmer's job will keep him outdoors most of the time, helping to direct environmental programs for secondary school students and the Summer Outdoor Adventure Program for young people ages 10 to 15.

Campers from Philadelphia, New York City, Princeton, Morris County and the Oranges come to the 170-acre center north of Blairstown for intensive 12-day sessions. During their stay they canoe on the Delaware River, hike the Appalachian Trail, camp in the wilderness, rock climb and learn Indian lore and natural history. The center's programs are also available for young people in the Warren County area.

Mr. Elmer's responsibilities will also include increased programming in energy and conservation awareness and in the natural history of the surrounding area. In addition, he will develop ways to increase use of the center's facilities by local groups.

The new program coordinator dinator comes to Blairstown with extensive experience in outdoor education. He has a master's degree in environmental studies from Antioch-New England Graduate School. In 1979-80 he coordinated the outdoor education program at the Washington (D.C.) International School and later directed the Wyngate Farm Experiential Program in Putney, Vt.

He has canoed throughout New England and appears as a character in "The Survival of the Bark Canoe" by John McPhee. Mr. Elmer attended Princeton for three years and received a bachelor's degree in sociology from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1975.

Area residents wishing further information on the availability of Center facilities should call Mr. Elmer at (201) 362-6765.

NEW PROGRAM SET

By Johnson Foundation. Helping people who are sick or disabled recover their ability to function in everyday life more swiftly and surely is the goal of a $3-million medical grants program announced by The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

According to Foundation president Dr. David E. Rogers, "This program responds to a growing sentiment in medicine to enlarge the profession's focus of attention beyond disease processes and saving lives.

"It responds to the additional need for research and development that can lead to innovations which can make a difference in people's ability to work or go to school, to cook and clean and make their beds, to shop, to play — to do all of those big and little things that make a satisfying, productive life."

Twenty grants of up to $150,000 each have been authorized for 1981 under the Foundation's Medical Practice Research and Development Program. They will be made to medical and nursing schools in support of faculty members conducting small-scale research and development projects to apply existing biomedical knowledge more effectively in addressing such questions as:

- At what stage of medical conditions that can lead to serious impairment is it best to provide curative or restorative care?

- How do different types of medical practice arrangements (e.g., in the organization or mix of personnel) affect the outcome of certain specific kinds of disease?

- What are the benefits of health educational and preventive activities con-

CHINCH BUGS

Chinch bug damage is becoming very noticeable as turf grass growth slows for summer, decreasing its ability to overcome this insect's feeding. The chinch bugs feed by piercing basal portions of grass plants and sucking the juices from them. Many lawns in the Princeton area are showing a yellow or brownish cast due to insect feeding. Others have irregular-shaped dead patches where chinch bugs thrived uncontrolled last year, and are continuing to feed this year.

Chinch bugs are very small and difficult to find among grass roots and thatch. Adults are about one-fifth inch long, black, with whitish wings folded flat over the back. The nymphs are smaller, mostly bright red, with a white band across the back. Both adults and nymphs are fast-moving, requiring quick observation to spot them.

Two generations are completed per year, with the second generation overwintering. The generations overlap, so at this time all life stages can be found.

The best control for chinch bugs is a chemical application. Of those available, the liquid formulations applied in sufficient water to penetrate turf and saturate the soil surface give the best control. Granular formulations are convenient for homeowner application, however, they require irrigation immediately after being applied.

Call us for plant pest control and pest management consultation.

Collins' Plans Supported.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The Environmental Design Review Committee in its recent recommendations to the Regional Planning Board has taken upon itself the task of re-doing the well-conceived and long considered plans of Collins Development Corporation for the Palmer Square Complex.

EDRC terms the Collins plans as a preliminary effort and a "trial balloon," and goes on to question such matters as public relations and financing which have no bearing whatsoever on "environment."

Collins was selected as the developer of Palmer Square by Princeton University as the organization most likely to produce a viable business community to fit the economic and cultural needs of Princeton.

Collins has worked diligently and with imagination to produce a plan that will benefit our town. Let us urge the Planning Board to approve the Collins design so they can proceed with haste to bring it to completion.

Three Cheers for No. 1.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Princeton justifiably prides itself on the quality of its volunteer services. Engine Company Number One recently provided us with another reason for this feeling.

After edging Hook and Ladder as the best looking and maintained apparatus in Princeton's Firemen's Parade on June 26, No. 1 and its ten year old pumper captured two awards in a large competition in Monmouth Junction on July 4th. The effort that leads to such honors also leads to better and less costly protection for us.

Three cheers for No. 1 and the rest of Princeton's volunteers.

ducted by practicing professionals which are aimed at specific types of patient populations?

"This program," Dr. Rogers explains, "is intended to encourage and assist the first stages of investigations testing innovations that could lead to improved patient care and functional status, and which could be applied at a reasonable cost."

Copies of a prospectus outlining the program and soliciting letters of interest in applying for grants have been mailed to eligible medical and nursing schools for distribution to their faculties. The letters of interest are due at the Foundation by August 21.

Additional copies of the prospectus are available from The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, P.O. Box 2316, Princeton.

LABOR LAWS EXPLAINED

For Youth With Summer Jobs. Enforcement of the state's child labor laws will be accelerated throughout the summer season by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. Employers are urged by Commissioner John J. Horn to make certain they comply with the various regulations enforced by the Department's Division of Workplace Standards.

Inspectors in the Division's Office of Wage and Hour Compliance will make unannounced spot checks of work places in all areas of the state to promote adherence to statutory requirements governing the employment of youngsters. The state regulations are designed to prevent the exploitation of minors in both professional and general employment.

Under provisions of the State Child Labor Law, an employment certificate is required for each person hired. The employer must keep accurate records of hours worked and is charged with the responsibility of providing workers with a meal period. Specific prohibitions also apply to the type of work assigned, and the total number of hours worked per day, per week and at night.

Youngsters under age 16 may not be hired for jobs that require the operation of power tools, such as power driven lawnmowers. They are permitted to use all standard type powered office and domestic machines.

Minors hired for general employment must be at least 14 years of age and must have working papers. This requirement applies to jobs related to golf caddying and to occupations in mercantile establishments, private bowling alleys, gas stations, garages, restaurants, hotels and motels.

Youngsters hired for agricultural employment outside of school hours must be at least 12 years of age and each must obtain a special agricultural permit. A special theatrical permit is required for each minor under 16 engaged in a theatrical production, including stage, motion picture, television performances and rehearsals.

Closed Sundays July and August

The child must be accompanied at all times by an adult who is a parent, guardian, or representative of the employer.

Teenagers must get working papers for every household where they babysit if the return engagements are understood to be definite and regular. The issuance and approval of working papers and supporting documents is specifically the sole responsibility of the school issuing officer.

Copies of the State Child Labor Law Regulations are available without charge from the Office of Wage and Hour Compliance, New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, CN 389, Trenton, N.J. 08625.

EARLY DANCING SET

At Nelson House. A demonstration of 18th and 19th century American country dancing will be held Saturday between 1 and 4 at the Nelson House in Washington Crossing State Park. Musicians will play authentic instruments from the period, and a caller will "call the tunes." After the demonstrations, the public will be invited to join in the dancing, and the caller will "walk through" the dancers the first time around.

The demonstration has been arranged by Jeff Macechak, the new docent at the Nelson House, under the auspices of the Washington Crossing Association of New Jersey. The Nelson House, on the riverbank at the New Jersey end of the bridge, is open from 9 to 5 on Saturdays and Sundays, and from noon until 5 on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Mr. Macechak is available during these hours to guide and interpret the historical displays for visitors.

The rain date for the country dancing exhibition is Sunday.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

To Upgrade Nursing Home Care. A $5-million program to improve long-term care for nursing home patients has been announced by The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The project is co-sponsored by the American Academy of Nursing and will fund efforts to affiliate nursing homes with nursing schools.

According to Foundation president Dr. David E. Rogers, "The program is designed to reduce nursing homes' isolation from the mainstream of nursing and medical care."

"Presently, only five percent of nursing home employees are registered nurses," Dr. Rogers said. "At any time for every 100 patients there are only the equivalent of 1.5 licensed health providers — registered nurses and licensed practical nurses."

Most care is provided by health aides with little formal training."

Under this program, grants of up to $500,000 each will be made to as many as 10 eligible nursing schools that are part of universities and that offer graduate programs. With these funds the schools will affiliate with nursing homes that wish them to assume responsibility for clinical care for patients.

School faculty will care for nursing home residents, teach students in the home, and offer educational programs to existing nursing home staff and staff of other nursing homes in their area.

The program is targeted on two categories of nursing homes: those which, due to severe staffing problems, are having difficulty sustaining a reasonable standard of care, and homes prepared to develop linkages with hospitals and community services that can improve the flow of patients from hospitals to nursing homes and on to community living arrangements.

Eligible nursing schools have been invited to apply to the Teaching Nursing Home Program by October 1.

PEOPLE In The News

Five area students have announced their plans to enter the Class of 1985 at Smith College in Northampton, Mass. They are D'Maris Amick and Gretchen Good from Princeton High School; Katherine van den Blink, Hotchkiss; Maria Casale, Stuart Country Day School; and Johanna Vogel, Hopewell Valley High School.

Navy Fire Control Technician Seaman Josef A. Borg, son of Josephine W. Borg of 749 Ewing Street, recently participated in training at sea. He is a Naval Reservist from the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Center, West Trenton.

During the training, Borg and his fellow reservists were aboard the frigate USS Hart. They practiced shiphandling, navigation, seamanship, communications, damage control and gunnery.

Rina A. Pennacchia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Pennacchia, 425 Ewing Street, has been appointed vice president of The Urban Institute in Washington, D.C.

Ms. Pennacchia, a graduate of American University, joined the Institute's office of personnel in 1969, where she served as director of recruitment and placement from 1970 to 1971 and as director of personnel from 1971 to 1979. In 1979 she was appointed assistant vice president for personnel and administration and corporate secretary. Before joining the Institute, she was employed by the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards and the Educational Testing Service.

Ms. Pennacchia is a past president and the current director of the Washington Personnel Association. She is also district director of the American Society for Personnel Administration. In 1980, she was awarded the American Society for Personnel Administration's Superior Merit Award for Outstanding Chapter Achievements.

The Urban Institute, founded in 1968, is a private, non-profit research organization dedicated to finding solutions to the problems of the nation's communities.

James Leech, an Ithaca College Political Science junior, has been elected Student Body President for the second year. Mr. Leech, who also has been named a Student Justice for the next academic year, is a Dean's List student and was chosen for "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Leech of Princeton.

Area students have been selected for membership in the Open Door at The Lawrenceville School. The Open Door is an honorary society, of limited membership, of boys selected in the 11th grade year upon the recommendation of individual faculty members. Boys are chosen on the basis of character, personality and achievement to represent the best qualities of the student body on public occasions.

From Princeton they are James H. Cohen, James A. Lo, Peter J. Maruca, Lawrence L. Ostema and Patrick J. Sheehan. From Lawrenceville, Thomas Arnold III, Eli J. Hurowitz, Michael J. Jackson, and Robert I. Steward. From Skillman, Lars H. Enstrom.

Annabelle Brainard, a 1977 graduate of Princeton Day School, earned her 11th varsity letter at Dartmouth College this spring.

Miss Brainard earned four letters each in field hockey and lacrosse, and three in squash. She missed a 12th letter when she took the winter term of her sophomore year abroad under Dartmouth's Language Study Abroad program. In the recently concluded lacrosse season, she was Dartmouth's third-leading scorer with 19 goals and three assists for 22 points. She was the recipient of the 1981 Coach's Award, given annually by Coach Aggie Kurtz to the Big Green player who demonstrates loyalty and enthusiasm.

Miss Brainard was selected second team All-Ivy in field hockey in 1980 and was voted co-Most Valuable Player on that year's Dartmouth squad. She was also named to the All-Ivy lacrosse team for 1981.

As a sophomore, she was one of six Dartmouth women to compete in the National Women's Lacrosse Tournament held in Princeton.

Penalty stroke specialist on the field hockey team for four years, Miss Brainard made nine of ten stroke attempts, missing only on her last try in her final home game as a senior.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brainard Jr. of 31 Stony Brook Lane, she served as a Marshall at Dartmouth's Commencement.

Suresh C. Chugh of Manor Ridge, Princeton Junction, has been elected a senior vice president of Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York. He heads the engineering services department.

MISSION ESTABLISHED

Of St. Paul's in West Windsor. A new mission church of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church has been established to serve Catholics living in the West Windsor-Plainsboro area.

Called St. David the King, the mission is supervised by St. Paul's in the same way that the St. James mission in Rocky Hill is under the rotating care of the four priests at St. Paul's. St. David the King is currently holding Mass at the Maurice Hawk School on Clarksville Road on Sunday mornings at 10:30 with one or another of the four priests as celebrant.

According to the Rev. Evasio deMarcellis, the new mission is drawing some 400 Catholics in the West Windsor-Plainsboro area who have been petitioning the Catholic Diocese of Trenton for three years for their own place to worship. The school, which once served as the starting place for the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church on Hightstown Road, was chosen for its accessibility and because its classrooms could be used for CCD classes.

The next step, as it was for the Prince of Peace Church, may be a new church building. The Catholic Diocese of Trenton owns a plot of land on the Princeton-Hightstown Road which could be used for a new building, but whether the parish would be able to acquire it at cost is not known, Fr. deMarcellis says. According to the Rev. William Fitzgerald, the diocesan chancellor, the parishioners will have to finance the building of a church themselves, although the diocese will lend the community money at a low rate or no interest at all.

St. Paul's Church numbers 2,300 families from seven communities in its parish, including those who attend the St. James and St. David the King missions. In addition to Fr. deMarcellis, the priests are the Rev. Msgr. John J. Endebrock, the Rev. Douglas U. Hermansen and the Rev. Ralph Stansley. St. Paul's school for children in kindergarten through eighth grade is situated on the church property and is partially supported by the church.

One of Fr. deMarcellis's concerns is that the Diocese of Trenton may be split across the middle, with the northern half forming a new Diocese of New Brunswick, and the southern part, including Princeton, remaining in the Diocese of Trenton. The split, if it happens, would put the St. James mission and the Plainsboro residents who attend the St. David the King mission in a different diocese from St. Paul's. It would also seriously undermine the financial base of St. Paul's School.

MASS IS CELEBRATED

At Rehabilitation Center. Bishop John C. Reiss celebrated a special Mass at St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center on Sunday, June 21. The Mass was a highlight of the Church's commitment to the International Year of Disabled Persons. Pope John Paul II was scheduled to celebrate a similar Mass at St. Peter's in Rome on the same day.

Patients in wheelchairs, their families, and members of parishes throughout the Catholic Diocese of Trenton gathered under a large tent at St. Lawrence for the service

Bishop Reiss was assisted by eight Diocesan clergy.

The United Nations has called on world leaders, state governments and concerned individuals to work for better lives for the disabled throughout 1991. The New Jersey Advisory Council, established by Governor Brendan T. Byrne last year, has many projects under way to satisfy the recreational needs of the handicapped, to educate the general public, and to follow up on recommendations of the 1976 White House Conference on the Disabled.

The celebration Mass was jointly arranged by the Diocese and by St. Lawrence Administrator Martin Idler who serves on the state council for the Year of the Disabled.

EVANGELIST DUE

At Nassau Christian Center. Carlton Pearson and his team will be at Nassau Christian Center on Sunday at 10:30 and 6:30 and on Monday at 7:30.

Mr. Pearson is a graduate of Oral Roberts University, where he sang with the World Action Singers. He sang and ministered for over five years on the Oral Roberts weekly television shows and periodic prime-time specials. He also founded and directed the University's first all-black choir, Soul's Afire, which is now integrated.

After graduation he continued singing and preaching in England, Canada and across the United States with Richard Roberts. Later he became the associate evangelist for the Oral Roberts Association for 1½ years before beginning his own ministry, Higher Dimensions.

Since 1977 Higher Dimensions has proclaimed God's abundant health, happiness and holiness for people everywhere. Under Mr. Pearson's direction, the Higher Dimensions team has travelled extensively in the U.S. and toured South Africa in 1980 as the first integrated team to evangelize in that country.

The public is invited to the services at Nassau Christian Center, Nassau Street and Chambers Street. For more information call 921-0981 or 452-2828.

New Graduation Requirements Set by State To Take Effect With This Fall's Ninth Graders

If you're going to be a ninth grader, you haven't even walked in the door of Princeton High School yet, and already they're talking about your graduation requirements--new ones adopted by the State Board of Education just a year ago.

The new requirements become effective with this fall's ninth grade class.

Princeton High School meets the New Jersey legislature's minimum standards in all but four categories:

1. Individual Student Improvement Plans.
2. An attendance policy described as "rigorous."
3. Guidelines that show students and their parents, at the beginning of each course of study, what "proficiency" means in that particular course.
4. A comprehensive program to make students aware of the various careers open to them.

To be eligible for graduation, you must pass a state minimum basic skills test in reading, writing and computation. These examinations will first be given to ninth-grade students next spring. Superintendent Paul Houston said in his "Annual Report: Spring Supplement," that he expects reading and math exams to be about the same as present Minimum Basic Skills tests.

The writing section of this test will have two parts. The first will be a writing sample, in which you will have to gather information, organize it and present it in an essay. The second part will be an objective test on sentence structure, spelling, usage, punctuation and capitalization. These tests will be given in, and you must pass them in, English. The state will decide what the passing score is.

since 1978. Math and English teachers did item analyses of the 1979 test and evaluated the items. In areas where tests showed that students were weak, the high school's curriculum was modified accordingly.

Dr. Houston and his staff estimate that about 18 percent of the incoming ninth-grade class will fail one or more parts of this exam. They base their estimate on results of tests given this spring.

If you fail any part of the basic skills tests, new state regulations require that the school system prepare for you an Individual Student Improvement Plan. The state says this plan must analyze your test performance, list the specific skills in which you are deficient, describe the instructional program to be provided for you, and outline the standards you must meet to be taken out of the remedial program.

Your guidance counselor will watch your progress. A teacher, chosen by Principal John Sakala, will write your ISIP (Individual Student Improvement Plan) after consultation with classroom teachers. The principal will then review your ISIP, and there will be a conference with you and your parents to explain the plan and answer any questions.

Incidentally, the Department of Education's guidelines require that both you, and your parents (or guardians, of course) be notified that you need an ISIP, and what the plan contains. In fact, your parents will be invited to help plan your remedial program.

Cooperative Program. "Guidelines require that every effort be made to impress upon both parents and students the importance of the remediation program," Dr. Houston emphasized in his report. "The intent is that they become active members of a co-operative improvement program."

Your ISIP will be reviewed at least once a year. If you're still having problems at the end of 11th grade, there will be a big, comprehensive review, and additional help will be provided.

If you have the skills, but just haven't done well on the tests, a special review panel might be set up. After looking over your work, this panel may tell the principal that, even if you didn't pass the formal tests, you nevertheless have shown that you have basic skills equal to the state's standards.

Not a Simple Procedure. However, the state has set up this process in such a way that evaluation and procedures are both strict and complex. State authorities want to be sure the special-review concept isn't abused.

"The procedure is not a way out for unmotivated students, chronic absentees, or as a means to avoid public embarrassment if a high school has a high diploma-denial rate," the state has said.

These are the minimum curriculum requirements:

Every year that you are enrolled in the high school, you must take "communications" and physical education-health-safety. That's four years of each of these subjects, if you stay in school four years.

You must also have two years of computation, two years of social studies-history, one year of arts--whether fine arts, practical arts like shop or home ec., or performing arts--and half a year of career exploration or development.

Curriculum requirements approved last year by Princeton's school board exceed the state minimum, but the school system must modify the curriculum somewhat to meet these specifications, and that work is now in progress.

For example, the schools are developing a "Career Awareness" program, using both staff and people in the community. Present plans call for six 90-minute meetings with sophomores on Wednesday afternoons, and infusing "career-awareness" into existing courses. School staff members are also thinking about the possibility of evening lectures by Princeton residents from a variety of professions, perhaps videotapes for classroom use in the future.

Also, social studies have been expanded to include "Global Studies I and II." In these courses, the high school will give special attention to skills like reading maps, taking notes, developing self-direction and forming good study habits.

Requirements Will Be Specific. Starting with those of you in ninth grade this fall, students will be given a list of proficiency expectations for each course required for graduation. This list will tell you what goals you must achieve to be "proficient" and the state says the list must be specific and sharply defined--no generalities.

You may also demonstrate proficiency by passing a test without necessarily having taken a formal course in the subject.

Attendance also counts, under state requirements. Starting this fall, you must attend class a minimum of 90 percent of the time the class meets. To receive a passing grade in a given quarter, you may not be absent more than eight times in that quarter. You and your parents will be

"Angel Street." They called it "Gaslight" when it was a movie, but it's a thriller by any name. The melodrama, laid in Victorian England and concerned with missing jewels in an old mansion (wow!) will open this Friday at 8:30 at Artists Showcase Theatre, 1150 Indiana Avenue, just off the Route One-Brunswick Avenue circle in Trenton.

The play will run two week-ends, closing on Sunday, July 19. The performance on that night will be at 7:30.

"Angel Street" is being produced by the Shakespeare '70 company in association with the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission. Tom Moffit and Dr. John F. Erath of Trenton State College are staging the production. Gerald E. Guarnieri, vice-chairman of the Trenton Arts Commission, is producer and designer.

Lila Howley, Carl Wallnau and Ed Petranto star in "Angel Street." Others in the cast are Carol La Cross, Kathie Caprario, John Erath III and Chris Erath.

'BRIGADOON'

At Open Air Theatre. Lerner and Loewe's musical, "Brigadoon," produced by Warren Raymond and directed by Mary Rees, will be presented at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, N.J., July 16, 17 and 18, and 23, 24 and 25, all at 8:30 p.m.

It's the production of The Princeton Opera Association, with Igor Chichagov as musical director, assisted by Nancy Plum.

Linda Mattingly will star as Fiona, who lives in the enchanted Scottish village that comes to life only one day every 100 years. Mark Kramer will be Tommy and Jack Friedel will be Jeff, the success — in the United States, at least — by German director Rainer Werner Fassbinder. Using the metaphor of a woman who moves upward while waiting for her long-lost soldier husband, Fassbinder explores the defeat, rise, growing pains and current state of postwar Germany. Hanna Schygulla's performance led critics to call her the most exciting German export since Dietrich.

Her companion this week will be a 1974 film, "Lacombe, Lucien," by Louis Malle, who directed "Atlantic City." He tells the story of a French farm boy who, by chance, joins the Gestapo just before the collapse of the German occupation in 1944. The director examines the behavior of the French during occupation, combining documentary truth and his own views of personal morality. The film perceives war in terms of waste, petty opportunism and misunderstanding.

Those who would like to audition should prepare a short monologue of two or three minutes. Auditions will be held during the week of July 13 at Crossroads, 320 Memorial Parkway, New Brunswick. Appointments may be made with Mr. Richardson at 201-249-5560. Anyone interested in volunteer work for the theatre is also invited to call that number.

Trustees will be Nick Poraccino, Stella Evans, Lew Gantwerk, Steve Nelson, Gus Mosso, Henry Riccobene, Paul Saunders, Nina Scott and John Schenck.
"Shadow Box" will open the season in October, followed in December by "Vanities." A program of one-act plays will be offered in February, "Murder Among Friends" in March and a new play by a

FOUR RECITALS SET
This Week At Westminster.
Four recitals highlight the activities at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, for the week of July 12-18: two organ performances and one each on piano and harpsichord.

Joan Lippincott opens the week on Sunday with an organ recital featuring works by Louis-Nicolas Clerambault, J.S. Bach, Max Reger and Daniel Pinkham. The performance starts at 8 in Scheide Recital Hall in the basement of Dayton Hall on the Westminster campus.

On Monday, Mark Brombaugh will present a recital of works by J.S. Bach and Francois Couperin performed on the harpsichord. The program includes Bach's Toccata in G, his G major French Suite, and Couperin's Preludes from "L'Art de Toucher le Clavecin," among others. The recital will begin at 7 in Williamson Lounge. That same evening, Erik Routley will explore "Hymns on the Holy Spirit" in the third of his "Hymn Sings" held in Bristol Chapel at 8.

This week's "Summer Sing" on Tuesday features composer Alice Parker, who will be conducting Bach's Cantata No. 4 ("Christ lag in Todesbanden") and Motet No. 3 ("Jesu, meine Freude"). The singing begins at 8 in Bristol. Scores will be provided, but personal copies may be used.

Eugene Roan will perform a variety of Renaissance and Baroque organ works by German, Dutch, French, Italian and English composers on Wednesday, July 15, beginning at 7. The recital will be held at Trinity Episcopal Church, 33 Mercer Street. At 8:30 on that same evening, Phyllis Alpert Lehrer will perform Baroque, Romantic and 20th-century works for the piano, assisted in part by guest flutist Miriam Lynn Nelson. Featured works include Bach's Toccata in D, two fantasies, by Chopin (Op. 49) and Schumann (Op. 17) for solo piano, and several pieces by Donizetti, Faure and Jolivet for flute and piano. The recital will be held in Bristol Chapel.

All recitalists are faculty members at Westminster or in Westminster's Conservatory Division.

The week concludes on Thursday, July 16, with a recital performed by students attending Westminster's Organ Week. The recital will be held in Scheide Hall at 7. Later that evening, Alice Parker will lead another "Hymn Sing" at 8 in Bristol, focusing on creative approaches to hymn singing.

All events are free of charge and open to the public.

TWO PREMIERES SET

For Rutgers Concert. Kenrick and Barbara Mervine will present a free concert of American and French music Sunday, July 19, at 8 at Kirkpatrick Chapel, Rutgers University.

The program will feature the New Jersey premiere of two compositions by contemporary American composers: Herman Berlinski's "Three Devotional Songs," for solo voice and organ; and William Albright's "The King of Instruments," a parade of music and verse for organ and narrator.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervine earned their degrees BM, MM and BM Ed, respectively, from Westminster Choir College. Together they have presented many recitals in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Mr. Mervine as organist, pianist and accompanist, and Mrs. Mervine as vocalist and instrumentalist. Their repertoire includes classical, jazz, folk, and contemporary works.

As organist, Mr. Mervine has held a number of church music positions in Pennsylvania, and given concerts in the tri-state region. Mrs. Mervine has served as choral director, instrumentalist and vocalist at several churches and synagogues.

Additional works on the program include: Proulx's "Fanfare for Organ," Vierne's "Naiades" (Water Nymphs), "Variations on America" by Ives, Roger-Ducasse's "Pastorale," and Albright's "Sweet Sixteenths" (A Concert Rag for Organ). The public is invited.

AND TREES...

with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

What do they have in common? All three shed in summer! Although you expect it of your dog and cat, it can be a little disconcerting to see it in your trees. Here are some reasons why

Many shallow-rooted trees (such as Maples) will drop their leaves during hot, dry weather, this is nature's way of balancing root and crown when there is insufficient soil moisture to supply all the leaves the tree put forth during a cool, wet spring

When leaf-fall is heavy on any tree, however, ask a tree specialist to look for the cause. It could be due to an attack by aphids, mites, scale insects or leaf fungi

Excessive leaf shedding reduces a tree's ability to provide itself with a proper diet, such trees should be watered well during dry spells, mulched to conserve soil moisture and prevent "cooking" of roots by hot sun, and most important of all, supplementary feeding should be done. WOODWINDS uses a hydrochemical method of feeding trees during the summer months, this means injecting liquid nutrients directly into the root area, and serves the following essential purposes:

- providing the tree with a quick stimulant
- providing long lasting supplies of nutrients to offset the weakening effects of leaf drop,
- getting water directly to the root area,
- breaking up compacted soil around roots

Special Note: When you're watering your trees this summer, water ONLY at the "dripline" and beyond picture a plumbline falling from the outermost leaves on the branches below ground are corresponding feeder roots which take in all the water for the use of the tree. It does little good to water at the trunk! If the soil is very dry, avoid wasteful run-off by lightly sprinkling the area first, and then allowing a soaker hose to run very slowly for several hours over this outer root area

Remember: WOODWINDS is always happy to answer your questions on proper tree care! Call us at 924-3505

DAY IN NEW YORK SET
For Art Lovers. The Princeton Art Association offers area residents the chance to enjoy a "Day in New York" on Thursday, July 16.

A bus is scheduled to leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 9 and make stops for the Guggenheim, the Metropolitan, the Frick and Whitney, and the Museum of Modern Art. The bus is due to return to Princeton between 5 and 5:30.

On view at the Metropolitan, besides the newly opened Astor Court, are the Newman collection of primitive and 20th century art, the Tishman collection, "For Spirits and Kings: African Art," and French drawings and prints from the museum's collection. The Guggenheim has a retrospective by Arshile Gorky on display.

"Pierre Alechinsky: A Print

Retrospective" is the featured exhibit at MOMA, and both the Cooper, Hewitt and the Whitney are exhibiting artwork used in the production of animated films. Also on view at the Cooper-Hewitt is "Garden of Delights" — horticulture as a source of design inspiration. Other museums and galleries in the area also have exhibits.

To reserve a place on the bus, or for more information, call the PAA studios at 921-9173.

FOUR-WEEK COURSES SET

At Art Association. Registration is due for the Princeton Art Association's four-week courses that begin Monday at the Rosedale Road studios.

Painting with pastels, furniture decorating in either free style or traditional country painting, and portraiture with Lee Stang Harr are among the classes available, along with developing a wood sculpture from the "block" under the tutelage of John Carbone. There are also classes in drawing, oil or acrylic painting, or watercolor.

The roster of classes for young people offers opportunities to develop creativity and encourage inventiveness. Eva Kaplan helps children experiment with various media in Adventures in Creativity and uses food as the medium in her class in Edible Art. Basic drawing and painting are also available for young people, as well as classes in cartooning and origami.

Registration information and more details on any course are available by calling the PAA at 921-9173.

2nd MEETING SATURDAY

Between Post 76 and Hamilton. Princeton Post 76, in second place in the Mercer County American Legion League race with a 12-3-2 record, and defending champion Hamilton Post 31, which is threatening to run away from all the contenders by winning 16 of its first 17 games, will clash for the second time on Saturday.

In the only one of the three regular season meetings between the two that will be held in Princeton, Post 76 will entertain Hamilton on Princeton University's Clarke Field — its home diamond. Starting time is 1:45.

Post 76 manager Pete Millington will go with his top mound performer, Andy Kulinski, who has a 5-0 record. Post 76 is solidly entrenched in second place but "unfortunately," says Millington, "nobody seems to be able to beat Hamilton."

Before the Hamilton game, Post 76 will oppose Trenton Post 93 on Wednesday and Hightstown Post 148 on Thursday. Both games will be played at Clarke Field, and Millington says he hopes for a big home crowd to spur the Princeton team on. After the Hamilton game, 20 of the 30 games in the regular season will have been played.

In its most recent start before the break for the annual Mercer Legion All-Star game, Princeton scored 13 runs in the sixth inning to rout Mitchell-Davis Post 182 for the second time this season, 22-0. Princeton won its first meeting, 19-2.

Kulinski limited the losers to one hit, a first-inning single by Anthony Jackson, for his fifth win. Kevin Phox led the 15-hit Princeton attack, singling three times and stealing three bases. Dan REPEAT SPRINGDALE TRIUMPH: Jean Starks and Jean Brown last week won the Jean McLeen Tournament at Springdale Golf Club for the second year in a row. Their score in the two-day event was 127 — one less than last year. Runners up were Mimi Frenzt and Ruth Thornton.

Miller and Danny Arendas each added two hits to the attack, while Judd Petrone and Keith Ender doubled for the victors.

Until the big inning, Princeton had a 9-0 lead but "had not played well to that point," said Millington. In the sixth, Princeton started hitting the ball and the losers, observed Millington, "made a couple of key errors and gave us too many outs." Even when Millington started to clear his bench the reserves continued to hammer the ball.

One-Run Loss. The previous day, Princeton lost its third game of the season when Broad Street Park scored a run in the sixth to edge the 76ers, 4-3.

With a runner on second and one out, Millington ordered an intentional pass to Gary Bachik, who had hurt Princeton with his bat last year and this season. Millington's strategy backfired when Tom Rockhill followed with a game-winning single.

"He hit the ball between third and short. If he hits to third base we're in business; if he hits it to short, we're in business," commented Millington. "Unfortunately, he hit it between the two."

"I'm not going to second guess myself on that play," Millington added. "It set up a double play. That was the play, no doubt about it. If it happened five times in a row I would do the same thing five times."

After BSP had scored three runs in the second, Princeton tied it in the third. Chris Nolan walked and Tom Scibetta, who is leading the league in hitting, followed with his second of three singles. (He had half of Princeton's six hits off pitcher Chris Walter).

Brent Robinson's double sent Nolan home with Princeton's first run and Keith Ender singled home Scibetta with the second. Judd Petrone tied it when his sacrifice fly to left plated Robinson.

Princeton tried to stage a rally in the last inning when Scibetta, with one out, lined his third hit but was thrown out trying to steal second on a great throw by BSP catcher Rocky Lambert.

Then after Walter (3-0) issued back-to-back walks to Robinson and Ender, BSP coach Jeff Plunkett summoned Bachik from right field. Bachik got Petrone to pop out in foul territory to end the game.

On the preceding day, Princeton was saddled with its second draw of the season when it battled Bordentown to a 5-5 standoff.

Blanked by John Majarwitz through the first five innings, Bordentown pushed three runs across in the sixth to take a 3-2 lead. It combined a walk, single, sacrifice bunt, passed ball and Herm Rinaldi's triple. Princeton tied it in its half of the same inning when Scibetta tripled home Robinson, who had singled.

Both teams were taunting each other from the bench as emotions began to heat up. Bordentown got to reliever Mark Budd again in the seventh. Dave Revay led off with a triple. Don Pastore followed with another three-bagger to center, and Warren Post doubled. After a walk, Millington called on Kulinski, who got the final two outs, but not before Bordentown manager Joe Durcanin was tossed out of the game after protesting an interference call on batter Tom Dillon against Princeton catcher Dan Miller.

This time Bordentown couldn't hold the lead. With one down, Arendas singled to short left and Phox blooped a single to right. Ron Kane fanned for the second out, but Miller kept the rally alive with his single, scoring Arendas. The fleet Phox raced to third on the play, and scored the tying run on a wild pitch.

During the postgame handshakes, fights broke out. "It was like a hockey match," recalled Millington. "A couple of guys dropped their gloves two guys here began to fight, two guys there ..."

A league hearing on the incident was scheduled for this week. "I hope nobody on our team suffers from it," said Millington.

MIKE'S TOPS CONTE'S

On Baxter Two-Hitter. Mike's Tavern maintained its one-game lead in the Princeton Women's Softball League last week with a 7-1 victory over Conte's Bar, as Clare Baxter tossed a two-hitter. Koffee Kup remained one game back with a forfeit win over Rusty Scupper.

Debbie Breithaupt was a perfect 3-for-3 for Mike's, which led 5-1 after three innings. Kathy Shillaber added two hits in three appearances while teammates Sally Toscano and Mickey Morgan each scored two runs for the victors. Lainie Ivan had both hits off Baxter.

Annex Restaurant kept its playoff hopes alive with an 8-5 win over Ivy Inn. Annex led 6-2 midway in the game off the hitting of winning pitcher Ree Smurthwaite, who was 4-for-5, including a triple; Karen Petruska and Carol Novotny, three hits each, and Lisa Jablonski and Jan Baker, each 2-for-4.

Ivy cut the deficit to one with three runs in the fourth, getting hits from Kathy Cruser, Kathy Wilcox and Cathy Cifelli, all of whom had two for the day. Annex, however, came right back in the next inning. Smurthwaite's single sending home one run and Novotny's sacrifice fly another. Ivy

Of all the big league baseball players in history, only ONE man has ever won all 3 of the top individual awards in the sport — Most Valuable Player, Rookie of the Year and the Cy Young Award ... Who was it? ... Answer is Don Newcombe ... He was voted Rookie of the Year in 1949 and won the Most Valuable Player and Cy Young Awards in 1956 — and amazingly, nobody else has ever swept all 3 of those awards.

Which current big league baseball manager was once the bat boy for the Los Angeles Dodgers? ... The manager of the Seattle Mariners, Rene Lachemann, was the Dodger bat boy from 1959 to 1962 — and ironically, one of the Dodger players then, for whom Lachemann used to pick up bats, was Maury Wills, the man Lachemann replaced as manager of the Mariners earlier this season.

CITY STARS WINNER

In Legion All-Star Game. Scoring five runs in the last two innings, the City All-Stars defeated the Country All-Stars, 7-4, in Monday's annual Mercer County American Legion all-star contest. Tom Rockhill of Broad Street Park Post 313 had three hits, including a bases-loaded single in the ninth, and was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Princeton Post 76, a member of the Country Squad, had five members on the team, which was selected by the team coaches: pitchers Andy Kulinski and John Majarwitz, first baseman Keith Ender, shortstop Brent Robinson and outfielder Tom Scibetta.

MORE DOUBLES WINNERS: Winners of the mixed doubles 4.5 and under division tournament, sponsored by the Princeton Community Tennis Program, are Hironori Takahashi of Pennington and Debbie Fritsche of Plainsboro at right. They defeated Karen Davis (center) and Jim Bialek, both of Plainsboro, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4.

But the City team tied it with a pair of runs in the eighth. In the ninth, an error, single and bunt single loaded the bases with City runners. Trenton's Sam Sparella singled home what was to be the winning run and after an out at the plate, Rockhill sent home two insurance runs. Princeton's Kulinski was charged with the loss.

Robinson had one of the six hits collected by the Country team. The victors had 12. Chris Walter of Broad Street Park was the winning pitcher.

MIKE'S PREVAILS

To Win Softball Tournament. The first annual Princeton Women's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament, sponsored by the Sweet Jersey Corn team, was captured by Mike's Tavern, the current first-place team in the Princeton League. Held at the Community Park fields, the tournament drew teams from Burlington County (the Burlettes) and from Perth Amboy (the Rascals). Also participating were Andy's Tavern from Princeton, Grove Plumbing from Hamilton Township and the Mean Machine from New Brunswick.

It was an uphill struggle for Mike's Tavern, which was edged, 2-1, in the opening round by Grove Plumbing. Under the double elimination format used in the tournament, as soon as a team loses, it drops to the losers' bracket until its second loss when it is eliminated. Ultimately, there is one team left in the winners' bracket with no losses and one in the losers' with one loss.

To win the tournament the winner's bracket team needs but a single victory; the losers' bracket team must win two in a row. Mike's responded by winning five consecutive games after its opening loss, including two over Grove, the winners' bracket champion.

Mike's began its comeback with a 6-2 triumph over Andy's Tavern, paced by a Dee Pearce triple, two hits by Jayme Edwards and three by Debbie Breithaupt. Next to fall was Burlettes, an earlier 17-2 victor over the Mean Machine. Breithaupt again excelled both offensively and defensively in the 8-6 win. Debbie Ficarro had three hits and Maureen Merrigan and Kathy Shillaber two each for Mike's.

The next victim was the Rascals, which Mike's shut out, 1-0, in a tight defensive game. Winning pitcher Clare Baxter had three hits in three at bats. Elizabeth Zingg scored the game's only run.

With the win, Mike's earned the right to face Grove again for the championship. It won the first game, 6-5, as Ficarro rapped three hits, including a double; Merrigan was 2-for-3 and Mickey Morgan tripled.

Trailing 1-0 after three innings in the championship game, Mike's capped its tournament comeback with a seven-hit, six-run fourth inning en route to an 8-2 win. Sparking the attack were Breithaupt, who homered, and Judi Grisham, who tripled.

Mike's coach Warren Huff accepted the first-place trophy and championship T-shirts for his team from Sweet Jersey Corn head coach Steven Cohen and assistant coach Bob Smyth.

ORANGE, RED WIN

In Summer Lacrosse, Orange won two games to remain unbeaten, and Red won its first in sudden death overtime, in games last week in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League.

Orange defeated Navy, 8-4, getting four goals from Dave O'Connor and one each from Jim DeLang, Don Mayer, Hal Kokes and Jeff Rosenberg. Alex Versfeld scored twice for the losers, while Mac McDougald and John Drezner added single goals.

Earlier, Orange topped Blue, 6-4. Scoring were Charles Wood, two goals, and Joe Warren, John McCor-mick, O'Connor and Rosenberg. Greg Hamer with two goals, Justin Magruder and Kevin Murphy accounted for all the Blue scoring.

Red won its first, 9-8 over Blue, when Bob Campbell scored in sudden death overtime. Campbell ended with three goals and teammates Scott Waterman and Bob Chalmers each scored twice. Hawley Waterman and Byron Price also scored for the victors.

Bob Rice was the big gun for Blue with three goals. Also scoring were Bob Littell, Murphy, Tom Taylor, Dave Ruslin and Magruder.

White outlasted Green, 10-8, Thursday as Dave Rosenbloom and Chris McDonald combined for seven White goals. Chris Harford, Mark Plante and Ross Satterwhite completed the scoring. John Hutter's three goals paced Green. He received help from Dave Forrey (two goals) and Chris Henkel, Jeff Henkel and John Forrey.

Tim McShane fired in four goals and Alex Versfeld two as Navy defeated Green, 8-6. Drezner and Daniel also scored. Alex Wert scored two for Green, while John Morris, Bruce Lincoln, Mike Shannon and John Forrey all added single tallies.

TENNITHON PLANNED

To Support Scholarship Fund. The Tennithon, a marathon fund-raising program to benefit the Princeton Community Tennis Program's scholarship fund and junior activities, will be held next Thursday and Friday, July 16-17.

Backed by sponsors for as little as 10 cents a game, participants will play 18 hours of matches. Each tries to obtain as many sponsors as he can and to play the maximum number of games possible during 18 hours. The Tennis Office will award prizes for various categories of achievement, including sportsmanship and fund-raising success.

The Tennithon will be held on the University Pagoda Courts from 7:30 to 4:30 each day.

A non-profit organization, the Community Tennis Program depends upon the support of members of the community. To become a sponsor or to learn more about the Tennithon, visit the Tennis Office, 71 University Place, or call 924-4343.

A review committee will be set up to consider unusual cases, like a long illness. It will be your responsibility to apply for a review.

Princeton High will still require 100 credits, excluding physical education-health-safety, for graduation.

The state allows local school districts to go beyond state requirements; for example, a district may require three years of computation instead of two, it may add requirements like a foreign language or add proficiency requirements in subjects besides basic skills.

These local requirements apply also to special education students unless they are specifically exempted in their own Individualized Education Program, the IEP prepared for all special ed. students. These students are eligible for a state-endorsed diploma from the high school after completing their own IEP.

Starting with the class of '85, the school district must tell the state how many state-endorsed diplomas were given out, how many were denied because students did not meet proficiency standards, how many students dropped out, and so on.

In 1985, the local school board must review and bring up to date its entire graduation policy.

NEW LOCATION SET

For University Guides. The office which has much of the responsibility for welcoming visitors -- including many prospective students and their families -- to Princeton University will be moving from its traditional space in Stanhope Hall to a new location in the adjacent Maclean House. The Orange Key Guide Service is moving to the "shed" portion of the famous old house located on the south side, nearest Stanhope Hall.

Access to the new space will be through the garden entrance of the house and an exterior door located on the north side, facing Nassau Presbyterian Church.

The telephone number for Orange Key will remain the same (452-3603) and tour hours will remain the same over the summer: 10 and 11:30 a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. On September 8, however, the 11:30 a.m. tour will be changed to 11, with other tours remaining the same.

SUPPORT GROUP SET

For M.S. Patients and Families. The Multiple Sclerosis Family Circle of New Jersey will hold its next self-help group support meeting this Wednesday from 8-10 in the dining room area of the St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center (formerly Morris Hall) in Lawrenceville.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Phyllis Lowry-Bell who will speak on "Learning to Live Without M.S." For further information call the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, 394-5353.

PASSING THE GAVEL: Raymond A. Bowers, left, was installed as president of the Rotary Club at its annual induction meeting last week. Nicholas L. Carnevale is the outgoing president.

By Rotary Club. During its annual induction of new officers, the Rotary Club of Princeton honored incoming President Raymond A. Bowers and outgoing President Nicholas L. Carnevale. More than 100 Rotarians and their guests attended the event at the Nassau Inn.

Other officers for the 1981-82 Rotary year are Kempton Roll, vice president; Francis J. Horsley, secretary and Frank Karel III, treasurer. Directors are Tristram B. Johnson, Robert Knight, Paul D. Houston, Thomas F. Evans and Art Abrahams.

PRINCETON IS HOST

To International Students. Forty students from more than 15 different nations are stopping in Princeton this week on the last leg of their trip cross country.

The students, part of AFS International-Intercultural Programs (formerly The American Field Service), are en route from the west coast communities where they have spent the last year, to New York where they will depart for their home countries.

The students have been living with American families and attending high school in their host communities. Over 3200 students from 55 countries have been hosted in 2500 U.S. communities this year. This is the first year a group of AFS students have travelled by train on this traditional "end of stay" tour around the U.S.

While in Princeton the students will stay with local families and participate in a number of special events arranged by the Princeton Chapter of AFS.

COMPANIES PREPARE

For United Way Campaign. The 1981 United Way-Red Cross campaign of the Princeton area communities is still three months away, but community-minded companies and institutions are now preparing for it.

Nine companies and Princeton University are helping the United Way with its public relations program by lending staff and by underwriting the costs of several projects, such as the preparation of campaign brochures and other and has recruited its 20 volunteer members. Such broad support allows the United Way to allocate more money to its member agencies, he noted, adding that the United Way's operating budget takes only 13 cents out of every dollar raised.

The following are helping the United Way's public relations effort this year: Educational Testing Service, McGraw-Hill, Princeton Bank, Princeton University, RCA American Communications, RCA Astro Electronics, RCA Laboratories, E.R. Squibb & Sons, and Western Electric. WHWH has agreed to provide weekly reports during the campaign months. These organizations have been supporters of past United Way-Red Cross Campaigns.
